Changing preferences after receiving an offer

Check and, if necessary, respond to your offer	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Choose Offer Status from the services menu• 1st preference offers are accepted automatically• If your offer is to a lower preference, enter your response
Change your preferences	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Choose Change Preferences from the services menu• Add new, or reorder existing, preferences above your offered course so they can be considered in the next scheduled offer round• If you are made an offer to a course, you can no longer delete that preference
Check or change the response to your offer	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• After changing preferences you may need to change the response to your offer in Offer Status• Choose a response option that indicates you 'still wish to be considered for your higher preferences'

Note: Adding or 'shuffling' semester 1 preferences after the main January offer round

If you add a new preference after the equal consideration closing date, you will not be guaranteed equal consideration for the newly added preference.

Similarly, if you 'shuffle' your existing preferences to move a lower preference course to a higher preference position after the equal consideration closing date, you will not be guaranteed equal consideration for the shuffled preferences.

The meaning of 'not guaranteed equal consideration' in this context is as follows:

For some courses there may be no further offers made; for others, even if further offers are made, you may not receive an offer even if your selection rank is equal to or higher than that of an applicant who received an offer to the same course in the main offer round.
